

HISTORY

Bachelor of Arts

The Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in history is designed to produce graduates who have knowledge of U.S., world, and regional history. The degree provides students with skills in research, writing, communication, interpretation, and analysis and prepares them for employment in public history, government and politics, international relations, business, and the media, including journalism and editing. Students are also prepared to pursue graduate degrees in a number of fields, including history, philosophy, law, and the social sciences.

IMPORTANT: Effective Fall 2014, all students who are majoring or minoring in history will be required to take HIST 3000: The Study of History either as a prerequisite or as a co-requisite for all 3000- and 4000-level history courses. Non-majors are permitted to enroll in 3000- and 4000-level history courses as electives without having to satisfy this requirement.

Courses

HIST 1050. Appalachian Hist-Special Topic. 1-0-1 Unit.

Provides a topical survey of the social, economic, and political history of the Appalachian Region from the colonial period to the present. This course examines patterns of culture, economy, politics, land use, and social structure. Topics may vary each term. (Offered occasionally)
Prerequisites: English 0999 unless exempt.

HIST 1051. Sports Hist & Amer Character. 1-0-1 Unit.

Surveys American sports history from 1900 to present to demonstrate the impact of sports on the unique American character. The course will emphasize the relationships of sports, players, and spectators to American society. Through the connection of sports history with politics, sociology, and business, students will analyze how sporting activities reflect the development of American society during the twentieth century.
Prerequisites: English 0999 unless exempt.

HIST 1111. World Civilization to 1500 CE. 3-0-3 Units.

Surveys the history of civilization from its beginnings through the ancient, classic, and medieval eras to 1650 C.E. Although Western civilization and its antecedents in the Mediterranean basin receive the most intense study, Indian, Far Eastern, and Islamic civilizations are also given extensive consideration.
Prerequisites: English 0999 unless exempt.

HIST 1112. World Civilization since 1500. 3-0-3 Units.

Surveys the history of civilization in the modern era from 1650 C.E. to the present. While the perspective of the course is global, the development of Western ideals and institutions and their expansion on a world-wide scale serve as the basic organizing principles of the course. A continuation of HIST 1111 but may be taken independently.
Prerequisites: English 0999 unless exempt.

HIST 2111. United States History to 1877. 3-0-3 Units.

Surveys the history of colonial America and the United States from the first European encounters with the New World through the Civil War and Reconstruction.

Prerequisites: English 0999 unless exempt.

HIST 2112. United States Hist since 1877. 3-0-3 Units.

Surveys United States history from the Reconstruction era to the present. A continuation of HIST 2111 but may be taken independently.

Prerequisites: English 0999 unless exempt.

HIST 3000. The Study of History. 3-0-3 Units.

Provides an introduction to the historian's craft. Includes an examination of the philosophies, methodologies, and techniques of historical research and writing. History majors must take this course at the beginning of their junior year.

Prerequisites: HIST 2111 and HIST 2112.

HIST 3100. History of Latin America. 3-0-3 Units.

Explores Amerindian, Iberoamerican, and Caribbean history from pre-encounter times to the present. Topics will include European intrusion and settlement, plantation societies, slavery, and slave rebellions, 19th and 20th century political and economic developments and U.S. policy.
Prerequisites: HIST 1111 and HIST 1112 and HIST 3000.

HIST 3110. Colonial Latin America. 3-0-3 Units.

Explores Amerindian, Iberoamerican, and Caribbean history from pre-encounter times to the end of the colonial period in the late 18th century. Topics will include European intrusion and settlement, systems of colonial governance, plantation societies, and slavery.
Prerequisites: HIST 1111 and 1112; prerequisite or co-requisite: HIST 3000.

HIST 3120. Modern Latin America. 3-0-3 Units.

Examines the establishment of government and new social structures in society after the wars for independence as well as the major developments during the 19th and 20th centuries. This course covers the contributions of indigenous peoples and those of African descent to Latin American culture and emphasizes major trends and developments in the various Latin American countries rather than the details of each of the present republics.
Prerequisites: HIST 1112; prerequisite or co-requisite: HIST 3000.

HIST 3150. History of Africa. 3-0-3 Units.

Explores the history of Africa from the origins of agriculture, the rise of complex societies, the spread of Islam, the rise of the Atlantic slave trade and Diaspora. Topics will also include European conquest and colonization, anti-colonial wars, independence and post-colonial politics.
Prerequisites: HIST 1111 and HIST 1112 and HIST 3000.

HIST 3160. The African Diaspora. 3-0-3 Units.

Examines the history of the dispersed Africans covering the period from its beginnings in the fifteenth-century until the early twentieth century, including contacts between Africa and the rest of the world, the development of African Diasporas in the Americas, revolutions and abolitionism, and "back to Africa" movements.
Prerequisites: HIST 1111 or HIST 1112, and HIST 3000.

HIST 3200. Traditional China. 3-0-3 Units.

Surveys the history of Chinese civilization from ancient times to the mid-nineteenth century. Emphasis is placed on political, social, economic, and cultural development. Topics include Chinese philosophy, foreign relations, and governmental structures.
Prerequisites: HIST 1111 and HIST 1112 and HIST 3000.
